La Heredia, is the award winning project of La Perla International set in the foothills of the Sierra Blanca mountains and is located above the town of San Pedro de Alcántara, just a few minutes from the lively Puerto Banús and the charming village of Benahavís, 20 minutes from Marbella and Estepona. It nestles into the sloping hills in the style of a traditional Andalusian "pueblo". The village is full of colourful and uniquely individual luxury townhouses with Moorish details, built along winding, cobblestone streets that are interspersed with squares, fountains and an abundance of shrubs and flowers. The colourful townhouses offer spectacular views across golf courses and mountains down to the Mediterranean, Gibraltar and the coastline of North Africa. The homes are also uniquely individual. From the antique wooden doors and hand-painted tiles to the sunny colour schemes in harmony with the surroundings - no two homes are alike! Yet each home offers the same feeling of style, spaciousness and luxury. The village is a gated community offering 24-hour security and boasts 2 communal swimming pools, one of which is heated. La Heredia also offers the Heredian Bar, as well as a Panaderia and butchers. Many owners of property in La Heredia choose to live in the village throughout the year, whilst others use it for holidays or rent their properties on either a long or short term basis. La Heredia is in great demand.
