Unique for its aesthetic, which reminds of a Tuscany villa and it is designed to enjoy family life, with ample spaces full of air where indoor and outdoor living blend together, where the protagonists are the light and landscape. And unique because of its modernity and energetic self-sufficiency, a specially comfortable house where one can live anytime of the year, under-floor heating all throughout, air conditioning,... all these commodities are sustained by a large solar panels installation of over 56 sqm (strategically located so they are not seen from anywhere), an extensive 24KW solar installation, two 10kw convertors, and 20KW battery, plus car charging connection. Additionally, the property has its own water supply from a well, it is an area with a lot of water, the river passes very close by, where one could go and bathe in the summertime. The house was built in 2000, and it is South oriented. There are 7 bedrooms with their own bathroom, and several multipurpose spaces (study, workshop, library,...) Surrounded by ample and lush gardens, a large lawn, and a lovely pool area with ample sunbathing terraces and an ice bath for the brave under us. In addition, at the back of the house, is a large vegetable garden and a chicken pen. A private drive, bordered by cypresses, leads up to the house with ample parking. The main door opens to a light entrance hall, giving way to the living room with large glass doors.

Connected is the generous covered terrace, which becomes the living in summertime. A separate dining room is connected to the fully fitted German SieMatic kitchen, and pantry with three fridges, and a freezer. Kitchen and dining open up towards an East facing terrace with outdoor kitchen facilities. The views toward the Sierra Crestellina are breathtaking from here.
